INTRODUCTION

Mahatma Gandhi Institute of Medical Sciences, Sevagram

'A Medical College with a Difference'

The Mahatma Gandhi Institute of Medical Sciences is India's first rural medical college. Nestled in Sevagram the karmabhoomi of Mahatma Gandhi, this Institute was founded by Dr. Sushila Nayar in 1969. It is attached to Kasturba Hospital, which has the distinction of being the only hospital in the country which was started by the Father of the Nation himself.

In the spirit of its Founder, the Mahatma Gandhi Institute of Medical Sciences, Sevagram today is committed to the pursuit of professional excellence by evolving an integrated pattern of medical education and seeks to provide accessible and affordable health care primarily to underprivileged rural communities.

MGIMS: Quality Medical Education

The institute strives to produce doctors of high clinical competence, professional attitudes and ethical behavior. The Institute believes that Gandhian values and principles are relevant even today and it displays a fierce commitment to advancement of medical education without losing the humane touch.

We, at MGIMS, are conscious of the fact that medical education needs to maintain the right balance in the eternal triangle of 'quality, quantity and equity'. In our perennial quest to attain the perfect blend, we never forget that these three arms are not in conflict, and equity cannot be kept in abeyance. The students at MGIMS are drawn from all parts of the country and come from all kinds of social backgrounds. Every effort is made to acquaint the medical student to the real rural India. Our approach to medical education with the spotlight on rural community oriented education makes our doctors sensitive to the felt needs of the people they would be serving in their future. Our students are expected to adhere to professional norms which include altruism, compassion, empathy, accountability, honesty and integrity.

Unique code of conduct

The students and staff of the Institute adhere to a unique code of conduct, where they are expected to wear hand-woven khadi, participate in shramdan and attend an all-religion prayer every Friday evening. Non-vegetarian food, alcohol and tobacco are taboo.

Soon after admission to the MBBS course, the students live in Gandhiji's Ashram for 15 days, where they are oriented to Gandhian ideology and learn the Gandhian way of life. Drawn from different geographical and cultural backgrounds of the country, this phase helps them get acquainted with each other and respect mutual differences.

Departments and Disciplines

The Institute offers degrees and diplomas in 20 postgraduate disciplines, all of which are presently recognized by the Medical Council of India and PhDs in Nine departments that are recognized by Maharashtra University of Health Sciences, Nashik. The Institute follows all the norms laid down by the National Medical Council and by the affiliating University, Maharashtra University of Health Sciences, Nashik for quality medical education.

However, to achieve its specific objectives, it has made some curricular innovations which are unique and have stood the test of time now for many years.

Drawn from all parts of India, MGIMS has the services of committed, trained full time faculty, many of whom have won prestigious National and International awards. The Institute boasts of a well equipped library which is a recognized resource library for HELLIS network in Western India. Students have access to computers and internet.

Community Orientation and Rural Service

This institute was established to evolve a pattern of medical education to train doctors with a community focus. During the first year, students adopt families in a nearby village and live with the villagers for a fortnight in their surroundings. Here they survey the villagers, understand their social and health related problems and impart health education. The students are made responsible for the health care of the families allotted to them and they follow them up till the end of their medical training. They develop a bond with the villagers and this experience fills them with compassion and a sense of commitment towards serving poor rural communities.

The Report of the Task Force on Medical Education of the National Rural Health Mission spells out the need to draw upon MGIMS initiatives and experience in curriculum innovation and rural placement of its graduates. It suggests launching a participatory exercise with MGIMS and other like-minded institutions, so that national guidelines can be formulated. Several such visionary and innovative education strategies which started by the Institute have now been adopted by the government.

Research

The focus of the Institute has been on community based medical research. Quality research has been the hallmark of this rural institute and the large number of funded projects awarded to the various departments is ample testimony to the potential of the researchers. We have consistently
